

Federico Andrea Stasi

A chartered accountant and auditor with degrees in business administration and law, I have been practicing tax litigation and providing tax and corporate consulting to Italian and foreign companies and individuals for over twenty years.

Married with three children, my free time is almost entirely dedicated to my family and sports.

"Coming together is a beginning, staying together is progress, but working together is a success. Nexum is teamwork, the ability to work together for a shared vision. The ability to direct individual work toward the goals of the entire organization. It's the fuel that allows ordinary people to achieve extraordinary results"